About The Gold Forum

The Denver Gold Forum (DGF) is the world's oldest and largest gathering of precious commodity equities. Presented every year since 1989, it now showcases seven-eighths of the world's publicly traded gold and silver companies when measured by production or reserves. The Gold Forum has germinated tens of billions of dollars worth of sector transactions since inception.

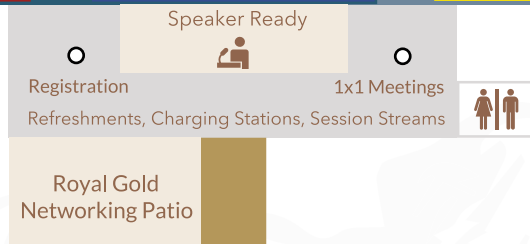

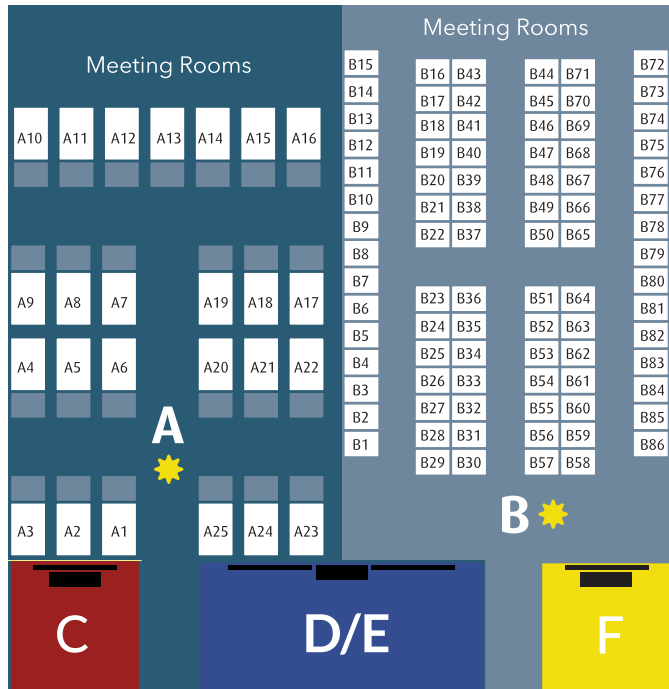

The invitation-only Gold Forum is attended by the world's leading specialist precious metal investors as well as generalist institutional investors, private equity and hedge funds. The combined assets under management amount to $1.5 trillion. Buy- and sell-side analysts from around the world make up the balance of the participants.

About XPL-DEV

The Explorer & Developer Forum (XPL-DEV) is the independent non-deal road show for explorers & developers – tailored to venture market companies & pre-production projects. It is a not-for-profit investment and business development event focused on investing in and doing deals with the world's most select junior and emerging mining companies. The Explorer & Developer Forum takes place as a sub-event within the Gold Forum.

Gold Equity Investing (GEI) is an investor-education initiative presented by The Denver Gold Group on behalf of its members. GEI markets the persistent case for gold, providing investors with strategic and tactical intelligence on bullion and precious metal mining stocks, helping them to build portfolios that are more durable through every cycle.

The Current and Future Drivers of the Gold Market

World Gold Council

Participants

- * Moderator: Alistair Hewitt, Director of Market Intelligence, World Gold Council.
- * Panelist: Dr. Martin Murenbeeld, Chief Economist, Dundee Economics.
- * Panelist: James Steel, Chief Precious Metals Analyst, HSBC Securities (USA).
- * Panelist: Tom Brady, Chief Economist, Newmont Mining.

The World Gold Council describes the structure of the gold market, focusing on the key drivers of demand and potential growth. It then asks a number of key market analysts and participants for their perspectives and additional insights.

The session aims to provide delegates with a fairly detailed overview of what shapes the gold market over the long-term and allow them to differentiate between shorter term factors and longer term trends. It also intends to explain some of those aspects of the gold market and demand flows that are often less well understood.

The World Gold Council is the market development organisation for the gold industry. With our unique insight into the global Bar and Coinsgold market, we see unrealised potential for gold across society and intervene to create new possibilities.

Working with world-class organisations across the supply chain, we stimulate demand, develop innovative uses of gold and take new products to market. As the global authority on gold, we offer comprehensive analysis of the industry, giving decision makers unparalleled information and insight into the drivers of gold demand.

How Private Equity Has Bridged the Capital Gap for Mining Companies

Douglas Silver, Orion Mine Finance Limited
Portfolio Manager

Private Equity has become a dominant form of funding for the minerals industry. Tightening of bank regulations in the wake of the Credit Crash forced traditional lenders away from this sector. Weak metal prices also rotated investors away despite the world population's continued growth and attendant demand for metals. The lack of equity and traditional bank funding has created a void that the PE firms are filling. This presentation will address the rise and evolution of PE financing and its ramifications to mining companies and investors.

Prior to Orion, Mr. Silver was a Portfolio Manager for the Red Kite Group's Mine Finance business. Before this, Mr. Silver was the founder and former CEO and Chairman of International Royalty Company (IRC), one of the largest publicly traded mining royalty companies. IRC was sold to a large competitor, Royal Gold Corp. in February 2010 for CAD 740 million. Mr. Silver previously worked as a field geologist and consultant for several mining companies. He has over 30 years of experience in the mining industry and has published numerous technical and industry papers. Mr. Silver earned a BS in Zoology and Geology from the University of Vermont and his Masters in Economics from the University of Arizona.

Can Equity Crowdfunding Work for Mining?

Chad Williams, Red Cloud Klondike Strike
President & CEO

Mining companies -- especially those at the exploration or development stages -- have struggled to raise capital over the past 5 years. Traditional methods of raising money have had a low success rate. Alternative forms of financing are gaining popularity. Automated online ("crowd funding") financing platforms may soon be viewed as viable alternatives to traditional equity financing. Many other industries have successfully raised capital through these platforms. Red Cloud Klondike Strike's mining-centric online financing platform is the first of its kind to connect a fresh and widespread investor base with select mining companies. Red Cloud Klondike Strike

The Worst Year in Memory for India's Bullion Trade: How Important are Fundamentals to the Price?

Ben Kilbey, S&P Global Platts
Managing Editor

S&P Global Platts looks at the key global physical gold hubs, China, India, Turkey and Dubai, and it is no secret that 2016 is the worst demand story for some regions in living memory. Who picks up the slack when the ETFs stop buying in a speculative driven rally? One source described it as the biggest disconnect he has ever seen between physical flows and the price rally... how important is the physical business to the price?

He began his career on Morgan Stanley's precious metals desk. In 2006, he moved to Bank of America, where he was responsible for managing the precious metals options portfolio. Following BOA, Miguel joined Techemet Metals Trading to trade precious metals and FX.

Goldmoney

Presenters

Roy Sebag, Chief Executive Officer, Goldmoney

Josh Crumb, Chief Strategy Officer, Goldmoney

Josh Crumb is a co-founder of Goldmoney Inc. and has served as its Chief Strategy Officer and Director since 2014. Mr. Crumb was previously an Executive Director at Goldman Sachs - the Senior Metals Strategist in the Global Economics, Commodities and Strategy Research Division in London; a co-founder and Chief Financial Officer of Coffee Flour, and a Director of Corporate Development at the Lundin Group of Companies. Mr. Crumb holds a Master of Science in Mineral Economics, a Graduate Certificate in International Political Economy, and a Bachelor of Science degree in Engineering from the Colorado School of Mines.

Roy Sebag is the Chief Executive Officer of Goldmoney Inc. following the merger of Goldmoney with BitGold, an online financial platform providing free global payments and secure savings in physical redeemable gold bullion. Mr. Sebag founded the company in 2014 along with Joshua Crumb. He also serves as the Managing Principal of Braavos Capital, an international private investment organization engaged in value-oriented investments across a variety of asset classes and industries.

Mr. Sebag previously served as founder and portfolio manager of Essentia Equity Ltd. an investment partnership founded in 2004 that engaged in fundamental long and short equity investing in distressed, event-driven, and natural resource related opportunities. At Essentia, Mr. Sebag developed a successful track record analyzing and investing in highly charged binary events including bankruptcies, reorganizations, and geopolitical uncertainties. From 2004-2010 Essentia Equity delivered superior risk-adjusted returns and was quoted in financial media publications including: Barrons, Bloomberg, Globes, The Marker, and Sum Zero.

In 2012 Roy and Haley Sebag established the Braavos Foundation which makes philanthropic investments supporting exceptional organizations that tackle important social issues. Braavos Foundation has supported organizations including: Gordon Parks Foundation, Global Witness, Seeds of Africa Fund, Pencils of Promise, Foundational Questions Institute, and others.

Goldmoney® was founded in 2001 by James Turk, an international banker who spent 40 years in the financial services industry at The Chase Manhattan Bank and the Abu Dhabi Investment Authority. James, his eldest son Geoff, and several prominent financiers came together to establish a financial institution that would recognise gold's significance as a financial asset. They understood the valuable role it would play in a global economic system that was, for the first time in thousands of years, unlinked to precious metals. Before Goldmoney, the opportunity to preserve purchasing power and diversify wealth with precious metals had been inconvenient, expensive, and restrictive.

Our founders' ambition, focus, and prescient timing led Goldmoney to become the global leader in precious metals custody and investment. By offering transparent access to precious metals, we have empowered tens of thousands of clients with the ability to safeguard their wealth in times of crisis and prosperity alike.

In 2015, Goldmoney® merged with BitGold, an innovative gold payments technology company founded by Roy Sebag and Joshua Crumb forming a new entity, Goldmoney Inc which was listed on the Toronto Stock Exchange in May 2015.

Financial Reporting for All-In Costs, Especially Streaming Costs.

Grant Malensek, SRK Consulting
Principal Consultant

Since establishing formal guidelines in 2013, the World Gold Council's (WGC) All-In Sustaining Cost (AISC) has been an important metric for comparing costs per payable metal unit sold for gold mining companies. However, it should not be a surprise that there are many interpretations of AISC, even with explicit WGC guidelines. While AISC is used by the investment community in ranking current producers, it is also often quoted by companies in valuations for mineral projects not yet in production. However, such technical-economic valuations using accepted best practices (as seen in NI 43-101 technical reports) are invariably in conflict with several aspects of the AISC guidelines. This presentation attempts to highlight the discrepancies between AISC guidelines and standard technical-economic valuations. To this end, for mineral project valuations not yet in production, SRK advocates a "Total Cash Cost" concept which reports costs per payable metal unit sold during life of mine commercial operations.
